Piano Enlightenment Program for Seniors

Research and clinical studies are constantly proving how music empowers our daily lives, and how it can bring positive effects for your health and well-being. Especially as a senior, piano stimulates many parts of the brain, increasing neural connections, cognitive skills, coordination, and fitness.

This program will build your music language, fundamentals, finger fitness, and stimulate your brain! You will be able to play songs in the first class, and able to communicate and express your emotions through music and a fun environment.
