CLEF

Core Literacy Education Fundamentals and Aptitude Development

This Vacation intensive is designed for students to build good learning habits through the exploration of the instruments, and to develop core literacy fundamentals and aptitude.

They will play on piano, hand drums, and xylophone (using Felicia 3EFM approach).

They will feel rhythm through the dance and movement

They will sing songs and be able to play piano while singing after the training (This is a big plus!)

They will sing in a choir and learn to conduct

They will learn the connection between music, logic, and math.

They will learn basic Chinese language in song in music .

They will be trained in working on accuracy and efficiency, and to Follow, Focus, and Flow.

They will build good habits, learn music and stage etiquette, confidence, speech, clarity, and gain public performance skills.

Students will work together, form comradery, and help each other. Felicia helps students achieve community and faster learning with her 8-student "Miracle Growth Groups".

Open to All Ages and Levels

This program is designed for students of all ages – from 3 to 16.

We welcome students of all levels, abilities, and experiences. From complete beginner to advanced levels, we offer training for everyone looking to learn and have fun!

For most activities, students will be grouped by age and level to ensure maximal progress.

No matter how young you are, it is vital to build good habits and a learning foundation from an early age. You will be impressed to see how far your child will develop in a short amount of time!

Why Group Classes?

From our teaching experience, we observed:

These group classes offer many things that go beyond private lessons. Students engage more with peers. Group activities can be fun and rewarding, and you can feel more motivated by peers.

Also, the opportunity to play, sing, or conduct in an ensemble is extremely valuable, because music is more than just playing solo piano. There's a whole world of music that involves musicians working and growing together, like choirs, piano ensembles, orchestras, and more! Being part of a team and working together are life skills that need to be developed from early ages. Just like how other academic disciplines are taught in class settings, music is no different.

Private lessons cannot match the social experience of a group class. In groups, students can help each other, learn from each other, and learn by observation of other students. Felicia's design, the 8-student "Miracle Growth Group" has given in better results for students' learning. In particular, several skills grow faster, like rhythm, focus, logic, comprehension, cooperation, and teamwork.
